GIEQs is the only fully CME accredited digital endoscopy symposium focussed on the endoscopic procedures we all perform everyday

- for consultants, trainees and endoscopy nurses

Practical advice to implement the latest evidence in the following areas into your endoscopy practice:

- upper gastrointestinal lesion characterisation and management
- gastrointestinal bleeding
- colonoscopy technique and theory
- polypectomy technique and theory
- inflammatory bowel disease in endoscopy
- basic ERCP
- basic EUS
- artificial intelligence in endoscopy

We take published evidence from complex endoscopic interventions and apply it to everyday endoscopy.

Organise your own group meeting with Group Virtual Learning

-Why not organise your own GIEQs III mini-symposium and receive up to 50% discount on the cost of individual registration.

There are advantages to endoscopy professionals learning as a group. Group learning helps:

- align the unit culture & improve team working
- individuals understand and appreciate each other's roles
- provide a platform for challenging entrenched views
- foster a collective approach to quality improvement.

-Ideas for specific Group experiences:

- Bring your endoscopy unit together in the hospital to watch the stream
- Bring your local gastroenterology community together in a local venue
- Engage industry for financial support
